

RE-DEFINING HOTEL ART

“I want the art to be an autonomous part of the hotel interior and atmosphere. The guests will be impressed or just surprised with the choice of art works and it will make them remember the uniqueness of the hotel, and of course return. The art can be welcoming but also an eye-opener that adds to the experience in a most positive way.”

ASIA

OLAFUR ELIASSON

Olafur Eliasson is occupied with optical and visual phenomena, very often with astonishing results. His wall-sized colour spectrum is scientific in its immediate presence but captures the spectator and gives a nature-like experience.

Danish artist Olafur Eliasson (b. 1967) lives and works in Berlin.

SPENCER FINCH

Spencer Finch has for the entrance of At Six constructed solar powered sculptures in the shape of sunflowers that will generate the energy to run a spectacular chandelier for the ground floor bar, visible from both inside and from the square outside. Spencer Finch (b. 1962) lives and works in New York.
